SEAWEED LINED PACKAGING

Traditional paper packaging isn't as sustainable as it appears. It clogs recycling systems, relies on hidden plastic linings and often still ends up as waste. There is an alternative: Seaweed. MexECO brings some of the most forward-thinking materials to the UK market and is now introducing its latest innovation, a completely plastic-free packaging solution designed for real-world use. It is fully recyclable where infrastructure exists, home compostable at end of life and naturally greaseproof without the need for added coatings. A smarter material, built for where packaging needs to go next.
